Intensified Promotion Pays Off. . . .

hub of Central Missouri, hasn't been stirring her stumps to promote June as "June Dairy Month."

There has been an amazing amount of activity generated by Chamber of Commerce and Farm organizations to prepare for Sedalia's particular observance on Saturday, June 2. .. Individuals in the city and rural districts have joined together in an all out effort to arrange a parade, displays, contests, ice cream social, square dancing and many other entertaining features.

Since early spring committees have been busy arranging a program which indicates that activities promoting dairy products during June will be as intense in Sedalia as anywhere in the state of ever before.

There is good reason for Sedalians to be responsive because the economic importance of the dairy industry is not lost upon those in this community who realize it's a million dollar business.

One might conclude that dairy products like milk, cheese, butter, ice cream etc., have in the past met with further need of large scale promotion.

Not so the dairy industry. It is not coasting on past performance. .. If ever an intensified campaign was laid out it is this year. No sign of salesmanship

One of the wholesome aspects of this enlivened effort to sell the public on the nutritional value of dairy foods, is the manner in which city folks have cooperated with the farmers and sellers of dairy products in this campaign to stimulate consumer interest.

The industry believes that dairy foods are essential to the health of every human being, regardless of age. This industry is reemphasizing this belief by a well rounded program of promoton pay off in the future. It takes enthusiasm. It takes planning. It takes hard work. It takes cooperation of men and

Dulles and Stassen Differ Over Russia

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - There's more to the friction between Secretary of State Dulles and Disarmament Ambassador Harold Stassen than just two important people rubbing each other the wrong

The feud gets down to the basic issue of whether we should cooperate with Russia.

Stassen thinks we should talk to the Russians more, isn't averse to having conferences with them, believes their disarmament moves can't be discounted. Dulles, on the other hand, is inclined to pooh-pooh everything the Russians do, even their 1,200,000-man army cut. He believes that conferences with the Russians get nowhere.

The Russians, knowing Stassen is more sympathetic, now go to him more than to Dulles, and it was to Stassen that Khrushchev and Bulganin tipped off their plan to make the revolutionary cut in the size of the Red army.

One of Dulles' personal press-relations men later leaked a story to the press that the meeting with Stassen was a vodka brawl - though there was no insinuation that Stassen partici-

Stassen has been able to get Eisenhower's ear on these matters, has convinced Ike that we should take a more sympathetic approach to Russia. This has irked the Secretary of State even more.

Chotiner Law Practice

The more you look into the "law practice" of Vice President Nixon's campaign manager, Murray Chotiner, on behalf of New Jersey racketeer Marco Reginelli, the more mysterious becomes the fact that Reginelli's deportation was suspended.

The more, also, you can appreciate the late Reginelli's wisdom in reaching from Camden, New Jersey, to Los Angeles to employ the close friend and campaign manager of the Vice president when the Justice Department moved to de-

Here is a play-by-play account of what happened inside and outside the Justice Department after the politically potent Murray Chotiner

The proceedings against Reginelli had been started under the Democrats when Attorney General James McGranery listed some 100 racketeers and gangsters for deportation. Deportation was based upon Reginelli's record of 16 arrests between 1917 and 1942, six convictions. three prison sentences, and three fines. There was also a battle over who should succeed him as czar of the Jersey underwold, which battle resulted in the murder of five men in South Philadelphia and South Jersey.

Mysterious Death

One important conviction on which the Justice Department based its deportation proceedings was for violation of the Mann act in taking Louise Abate from New Jersey to Florida for immoral purposes in 1952. Immigration officials wanted to question Miss Abate about this trip and subpoenaed her. Suddenly she was found dead.

The method is not new but she has put some real determination into seeking the goal.

This particular woman lives in one of the smaller towns of Butler County, but she wanted to establish a credit rating with the Poplar Bluff Credit Bureau. She made her request by telephone, The Standard was told by an official of the Credit Bureau.

The woman said she has no husband - had never had a husband - but she had three children and was getting over $90 per month of Aid-to-Dependent Children funds from the State

The woman also stated that in about three months she would be receiving more of such

Then she stated her final objective: "To keep on getting increases in such funds until she was getting $200 a month."

It was estimated that, at her present rate of increase, she could reach her goal in about five years — perhaps less than half a decade.

She would then have her certificate of gradu-

National Health Assured If Controversy Is Measure

By Joseph A. Dear Democrat-Capital Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON - United States must be in grand shape if controis a measure of national

It's the Army vs the Air Force on the question of defense policy. Harold Stassen is pitted against John Foster Dulles on the subject of disarmament. The Treasury is all for easy money while the Federal Reserve Board fears inflation. It's the Supreme Court vs. practically everybody. The Democrats are after the Republicans, naturally.

That last contest, incidentally, is probably the least important even if it gets more publicity. For as the analyst Samuel Lubell has argued, decisive policy struggles usually are fought within the ranks of the party in power.

If this theory holds water, the Battle of the Pentagor will be settled one way or the other by action within he Administration. The Democrats may stir up dust on the outer fringes with an investigation, but that won't be decisive.

An investigation might provide perspective. It almost certainly would not produce a defense policy more to the Army's liking. The "Admiral's revolt" during the Truman era, and the attendant congressional investigation, accomplished nothing for the Navy.

The Navy continued to sink. It was refloated by the Korean War. In a sense, the Korean War was as disastrous to the Army as it was beneficial to the Navy. The Navy emerged from the Korean War knowing its role in the age of the atom had been accepted.

The Army knows the role it wants to play, knows what it needs to play that part, and also knows that it isn't getting what it needs. The Army wants more air transports, and it wants these planes under its control. It wants support aviation. It wants to beef itself up with low yield atomic weopons. It wants its own guided missiles. This would take real money.

On the subject of disarmament, Mr. Stassen is inclined to assess optimistically the recent Russian announcement of a cut-back in its standing Army. Secretary of State Dulles seems unimpressed.

Important arguments these. And it is in the Administration that they will be decided. Obviously, the advice of Congressional Republicans is going to carry more weight in Administration circles than that of Democrats. The Supreme Court controversies are in a class apart. A recent Court decision had the effect of diminishing the authority of states in the area of labor - management relations. This has irritated states rightists. Another decision has diminished the power of the federal government in the security field. This irks the Administration. # Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

The courts throughout the nation are filled with cases of disagreement. The great majority of disagreements result from misunderstandings, from lack of factual information or from the emotional dramatization of trivial and insignificant incidents.

Frequently an innocent statement is misinterpreted and thoughtless answer is given. reply is returned in anger and before long, a real argument has developed. The original statement is completely forgotten and the unrelated matter becomes serious Important differences of opinion are resolved by discussion, by compromise or by arbitration Little misunderstandings are not faced clearly. They are allowed to grow and take on imaginary significance.

Divorces, neighborhood battles and even international wars de velop from trivia which could have been solved with patience and study of facts. But the trivia must be faced before involvements be gin to pile up. Many a disagreement would vanish into thin air if we were merely to see the viewpoint of the other person. Both parties in volved in a difference of opinion are so limited in their viewpoints that they are not willing to consider any side but their own. They shut their eyes to simple facts. Religion never teaches us to sur

Government Starts Action On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (A)-The admir istration moved today to put the new farm law into effect, but it may be days before farmers will know what benefits they can expect from it this year.

President Eisenhower signed the measure late yesterday, saying that it had shortcomings but that its advantages outweighed its "harmful provisions."

Thus ended more than a year ot maneuvering between his ad ministration and the Democratic leadership of Congress, with some Republican backing, over new farm legislation.

The law carries provisions for a $1,200,000,000-a-year soil bank program, but just how much of the money may be made available this crop year is a matter which will be determined by decisions to be made by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Benson, who said he was glad Eisenhower approved the measure, said his department is "proceeding with judicious haste" to put the soil bank plan into effect Placed Under this year. Under this program, farmers will be offered payments for taking land out of production Emergency of surplus crops.

Greek Official Will Strive For Freedom

ATHENS, Greece de-Greece's new foreign minister Evanghelos Averoff says he will work with 'unflinching determination' end British rule of Cyprus and to secure the return of Archbishop Makarios from British exile.

Averoff was named to head the Foreign Ministry after Spyros Theotokis resigned. Opposition politicians accused Theotokis of pro-British sentiments.

"We will use all appropriate means for achieving satisfaction in the Cypriot struggle for freedom and the liberation of Archbishop Makarios," Averoff asserted in a statement of policy. The British have confined Makarios, Greek Orthodox archbishop of Cyprus and leader of the movement to unite the island with Greece, on an island of the Seychelles group in the Indian Ocean.

Averoff said he would continue the government's foreign policy, "which coincides with the viewpoints of most political parties of Greece." He has served as undersecretary for foreign affairs in previous Greek governments and is regarded as anti-British.

Negro Club Seeks to Give Initial Defeat

The St. Louis Stars, an all-Negro club, come to town Memorial Day to meet the high-flying Sedalia Athletics in an afternoon game at Liberty Park. Opening pitch will he made at 2:30 p.m.

Manager "Buddy" Thomas' Se dalians will put their two win, no loss record on the line in an attempt to stretch their victory streak to three in a row.

Righthander Joe Imhauser been given the starting mound assignment, his second of the season. In his first outting, Imhauser threw a seven hitter in defeating the Chestnut Inn Club of Kansas City, Kan., by an 11-4 margin.

The St. Louis club is managed by Gibbie Meeks, who has appeared on the local diamond in years gone by as a performer for the St. Louis Giants and Memphis Red Sox of the Negro American League Meeks' aggregation has racked six opponents this season, with the same ease the Athletics have experienced in registering their two triumphs. The Stars have dropped one contest, a 6-4 decision to a club of ex-major leaguers now participating in St. Louis semi - pro competition.

"King" Parker and Wes Smith, both outfielders, have proven to be the big guns in the Stars' offensive. Tuesday's Shcedule:
Chicago at Kansas City—Pollet while Smith leads the team with a fat .425 average. (0- Meeks indicated that he intended to pitch "Fire Ball" Jenkins against the Athletics, holding Joe Rushing and Joe Boyd in reserve. Jenkins has chalked-up three of the Stars' six victories. No line-up change is contemplated by the Athletics. Manager Thomas is content with his winner of the first two games, but might shake-up the batting order. Sedalia hitting thus far has been tremendous. In the two games played to date the A's have collected 23 base knocks, including three home runs and eight doubles "Salty" Schumaker has belted two of the circuit drives and Ralph Fall got the other.

Starting time was set back to 2:30 p.m. to provide additional time to Memorial Day observers who wish to attend the game. The starting line-ups:

St. Louis - Karle Ballarde 1b; Roy Cochrell 2b; Johnny Forester ker cf: Otto Ross 3b; "Wes" Smith rf; "Fats" Hester c; "Fire Ball'

Sedalia - Don Broaddus 1b; Bones Morgan 2b; Ralph Fall ss; Bill Dey If; Ed Russell cf; Buddy Thomas 3b; Sonny Thomas rf; Salty Schumaker c; Joe Imhauser

Church Heads Debate on Aid For Hospital

KANSAS CITY IP - Southern Baptist Convention leaders debated today whether to recommend that the organization refuse to accept federal funds for hospital construction.

The Rev. Henry Lyons of Montgomery, Ala., backer of the movement, told the SBC Executive Committee acceptance of such aid would infringe the denomination's long-standing policy of complete separation of church and state.

Federal aid is provided on a matching basis under the 1946 28 Possessive Hill-Burton Act for construction of hospitals and health centers by nonprofit organizations and state or local governments.

The SBC already has on the agenda of its four-day meeting opening tomorrow a proposal that 35 Individuals it construct a two-million-dollar hospital at Miami, Fla. It now owns and operates hospitals at Jacksonville, Fla., and New Orleans, La.

The Montgomery minister is reported to have strong backing but some Executive Committee members said opposition might develop from proponents of the Miami hospital. A site for that hospital 53 Poker stake has been offered but construction 54 Note in financing has not been worked

The Women's Missionary Union and the Southern Baptist Pastors' Conference held their final sessions today with election of officers the principal business.
